

MUHAMMAD OTHMAN

WEB DEVELOPER

ABOUT ME

My name is Muhammad Alothman, an 18-year-old web developer enthusiast with half a year of experience in programming. I study at Maastricht Vista College Vocation College (MBO) and have been developing my skills in web design and development for the past year.

Passionate about building creative and interactive websites, I always strive to think outside the box to create visually appealing and functional designs. In addition to web development, I enjoy playing video games, soccer, and other sports, which help me stay active and creative.

I am a dedicated and hard-working individual eager to grow my skills and apply my knowledge in a professional setting. I look forward to gaining more experience and contributing my creativity and technical skills to exciting projects.
